Disputes happen. Mediation can get them resolved. And when it is time to choose a mediator based on knowledge and experience, look to DRC's Scott Stuart to assist in the dispute resolution process.

DRC's Executive Director, Scott Y. Stuart, Esq., is no stranger to the practice of bankruptcy mediation. His involvement with mediation dates back to his tenure with the Office of the United States Trustee in the mid 1990's. Scott's first formal training came in 1995 in the Southern District of New York through the Center for Dispute Resolution, and most recently he was trained through the 2010 inaugural American Bankruptcy Institute/St. John's University School of Law Bankruptcy Mediation Training Program. Scott served on the faculty of that program in 2013 and has recently been appointed to the list of approved mediators for the Dewey & Le Boeuf and Eastman Kodak Company Chapter 11 cases.

Look to DRC's Scott Stuart for Mediation

In addition to his experience as a seasoned mediator, Scott is one of the founding members of the ABI Bankruptcy Mediation Committee, resurrected following the ABI/ St. John's inaugural mediation training program. Amongst some of the committee's goals is the implementation of model rules and to gain support from jurisdictions around the nation to adopt meaningful programs and guidelines for the use of mediators to assist in dispute resolution.

Scott is on the mediation panels of the Southern District of New York, Eastern District of New York and District of Delaware.

Utilizing a largely facilitative process, Scott has aided numerous parties involved in contested disputes to find their way to mutually satisfactory settlements.

"I welcome the opportunity to aid in resolution of your disputed matter and welcome the opportunity to assist disputing parties in doing so".

-Scott Y. Stuart, Esq.
